DEATHS AND FUNERALS

MRS. ANNA MEYER.

The funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Anna Louisa Meyer were held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Seventh ward meeting house, with Bishop M. L. Jones presiding. There was a delightful programme of sympathetic music, with solos by Mrs. Emily Maddock—"Softly and Tenderly Jesus is Calling" and "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere." Mrs. Art Simpson, "Some-time, Somewhere."

The speakers were President John Watson, Thomas Shreve, Henry Barker Jr., and Bishop Jones, each of whom spoke in glowing terms of the character and enlightened womanhood of the departed. The floral offerings were numerous and of exceptional beauty. The interment was in the Ogden City cemetery.

GEORGE CHERRY.

The funeral services over the remains of George Cherry, a resident of Roy, were held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Roy meeting house. Bishop Thomas Hollands officiated at the services, and the music was rendered by the ward choir. "I Need Thee Every Hour," "I Know That My Redeemer Lives" and "We'll Sing All Hail to Jesus Name" were sung by members of the choir to a sympathetic congregation. Those who spoke words of comfort to the bereaved family were Martin Brown, Patriarch George W. Larkin and Bishop Hollands. The floral offerings were many and beautiful, and the interment took place in the Ogden City cemetery.

BREWERY LOSSES ENTIRELY INSURED

The loss incurred by the Becker Brewing and Malt company as a result of the fire in a storehouse of their plant Thursday night, is given out as $3,300. This amount includes the destruction of several thousand empty bottles together with the loss of 36 enameled refrigerators which were stored in the buildings. The structure razed by the flames was of small value, and is not reckoned in the damage.

This fire is the third that has occurred at the brewery, and is considered, as were the preceding two, to have been of incendiary origin. The stock of the plant, with the buildings and equipment, is insured almost to full value, so that the loss of Thursday's fire will be covered.

The belief has been expressed by officials of the company that the breaking out of fires in buildings connected with the brewery is of incendiary origin.

GREAT RUSSIAN DANCERS COMING

World's Greatest Whirlwind Dancers, Singers and Instrumentalists Engaged for the Four-State Fair—Spokane, Washington, and Ogden Join Fortunes and Bring the Biggest Hit of New York's Great Attractions to Ogden Sept. 23.

For several days past we have announced the great free attractions that Dr. Rowe is bringing to the Four State Fair. Last evening Dr. Rowe received the signed contract of the famous Russian Singers, Whirlwind Dancers and Instrumentalists, who have only played in two places in the United States of America, viz: the Great Hippodrome in New York and at Chicago. This troupe of famous actors consist of nine people and they perform on almost every musical instrument known to the human race. They make but one stop in coming from New York to Ogden and that is at Chicago. From Ogden they go direct to the Spokane Inter-State Fair. The Spokane Fair and the Four State Fair at Ogden dividing the expense of $3,000, the cost of bringing these famous dancers and musicians to Ogden. This troupe is said to be among the highest class and the most unique performers ever witnessed in America, and it appears to be one of the most expensive attractions that a fair could secure.

Notwithstanding that we have announced in the past that Doctor Rowe had engaged the Steiner Troupe and the great McHale, the great man bird, and Belle Stone in her famous steel case, the doctor says that the Malstroff troupe of Russian Singers, Whirlwind Dancers and Instrumentalists will be worth any man's dollar bill to see and they will perform twice daily, every afternoon and evening in front of the grand stand free to all those who are fortunate to see them.

Doctor Rowe says he is sure to tell the public that there will be but one price of 50 cents general admission at the gate. All these free attractions will be given in addition to the regular fair, the races, the sheep show and other attractions—all for 50 cents.

Mr. Cosgrove, Manager of the Inter-State Fair at Spokane, Washington, wires Doctor Rowe as follows: "You will never regret having joined me in getting the Malstroff Russians. I have seen them in the New York Hippodrome and they are drawing the people of New York to them day after day. This troupe alone would make any fair a success."

As Doctor Rowe handed the above telegram to the reporter he puffed a nice Cuba Havana cigar and said: "I am going to please the people by getting the best in the whole nation." When asked if he had any more free attractions he said: "I am figuring now on getting Barnes' Circus, or Don Carlo's great dog and monkey show and one of the Curtiss-airships, though the latter is high priced and I am trying to beat him down on his price. $1,500 per flight is too much money for this country and it all depends upon whether the fairs in California and Oregon will take hold of the matter with me." Continuing the Doctor said: "I have four of the very best attractions that any fair in the United States has and I will not be disappointed if I do not get any more, though I have made some fine offers for some animal shows. We said a few days ago that the Doctor ought to be encouraged in this fair business; he is an artist in his line. When we look over the list of past presidents of the Ogden fair and find Presidents Blair, J. C. Nye, O. M. Runyon and Mayor Glassman, all saying they willingly take a back seat for Doctor Rowe. He sure is the right man in the right place and the people should give him encouragement to back him and help him. No fair in the whole nation makes money out of a fair, and when a man takes chances like Doctor Rowe in paying more for free amusements at his fair than any of the fairs in the past has taken in, in cash it indicates that the man has his fair at heart and such a man, when found in the right place should be held tight. He should be given assistance in every available manner in order to keep him to advertise the city. Everybody has been for the FOUR STATE FAIR. All knackers, kickers and sore heads now boast.

The Ogden High School is opening this year with the best outlook it has ever had for a thorough, vigorous school year. The faculty is complete and is made up of well trained graduates of the leading American Universities of Colleges. The standard set by the National Committee of Seventeen has been lived up to by the Superintendent of Schools and the Board of Education. It is their policy not to employ as a teacher in the High School anyone who has not at least a Bachelor's degree.

There is no better High school building anywhere in the state, it is new, clean, convenient and well ventilated. The furniture and equipment are all the very latest and best. Splendid apparatus is provided in sewing, cooking, physics, chemistry, zoology, botany, physiology, physiology, typewriting, bookkeeping, manual training, athletics and military drill.

They are better and of better material and wearing quality than average suits. The blouses have no pockets to fill with material that would put them out of shape. There is no shirt exposed to view and one is not even necessary as clips are attached to hold the white collars. Neck ties are not worn and the necessity of buying and wearing them is dispensed with. The cap is included in the cost of the uniform and will outwear any ordinary hat. A boy in uniform will take more pride in his appearance and will consequently take better care of his clothing while you are relieved from buying hats and ties.

The uniformed cadets receive a maximum of the advantages of military training. The improvement in the set up and physique of a cadet after having drilled and worn a uniform for a short time is obviously noticeable. His erect, manly carriage is a matter of pride to himself, his parents, and his school. He realizes that being in a uniform a slovenly and uncouth manner of conduct will be glaringly conspicuous; that a cigarette in his mouth, his presence in a pool room, or other unseemly conduct at once subjects himself and his school to ridicule and condemnation. This realization that he carries with him the honor of his school creates a spirit among uniformed cadets that is invaluable.

The indications are that the enrollment of the school will be large and enthusiastic. A great many inquiries have been made concerning courses, etc., and it appears that the High School, from the standpoint of numbers as well as efficiency, will break the record. The lawns are beautiful and green and the surroundings and environment, both inside and out, are all that could be desired. It has been the aim to make the school, according to the Committee of Seventeen, a standard High School.

SUIT OVER A BOUNDARY LINE

In an answer filed by David Eccles yesterday afternoon in a suit brought against him by Sarah E. Binford to settle the question of a certain boundary line to real estate in this city, denies that at any time he changed the boundary line of the property, or that he moved the plaintiff's fence in any direction, to the east or otherwise.

The boundary line in question embraces the west line of the property upon which the Armory building is standing, the plaintiff claiming that when Mr. Eccles constructed the Armory he infringed upon her property west of it a number of feet.

Editor Standard:
Your paper contained a news item a day or two ago saying that some one who claimed to be an old soldier and who was injured at the battle of Stone River by an artillery wagon running over him, crushing him and crippling him permanently; that he was begging and telling this story and explaining that he had lost his papers and was looking for somebody to identify him, so he could get a pension. We hope that none of our citizens were deceived by this man's story, which is such a palpable fraud. No old soldier needs anybody to identify him; if he lost his papers he can get them duplicated by simply writing to the authorities at Washington, and they will be furnished free of charge. Any old soldier that comes to Ogden and is in want of assistance need only call on any member of Dix Logan post (and there are a hundred of them scattered over Ogden), and if he is worthy he will get all the assistance he needs without begging, and every Grand Army man knows this and takes pride in helping those in need. But when any one comes along with a fake story like this man, the public is always safe in putting him down as a fraud, for no old soldier needs to beg on the streets. JOHN W. NELSON, Department Inspector, G. A. R.
